Targeted audience

- A target audience is the specific group of people you want to sell your product or service to. It can be as simple as "women aged 25-40 who like to travel," or it can be more complex. For example, "people are interested in business opportunities but don't have much money to invest. The more specific your target audience is, the better you can tailor your products and marketing strategies to appeal to them. The goal is to create a persona for each audience segment that represents their needs, wants, and desires. This will help you understand what products they would be interested in purchasing from an online store like yours. When trying to target your ideal customer, it's important to remember that you can't appeal to everyone. You must find the right balance between appealing to a large group of people and focusing on just those who will buy from you.
